

How the Planets Shape our Health

A masterclass for natural therapists with Lee Anthony Taylor

A two-part event via Zoom!

"There is an incredible interaction between man and the cosmos" – Lee

- 1 Why do so many children 'grow out' of asthma around the age of 14?*
- 2 Why does arthritis affect most people in their fifties instead of their forties?*
- 3 What is really meant by going into your 'second childhood'?*

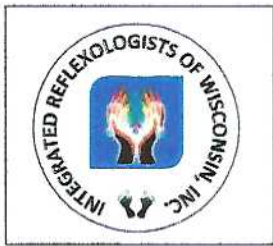

Whether we're conscious of it or not, all of the planets have a constant influence on us, every day of our lives. This influence ebbs and flows in regular cycles. Women tend to be more aware of these subtle changes than men, because of the effect of the moon on their menstrual cycle and their moods, but awareness among the general population is growing.

This two-session webinar will demonstrate how each of the seven major planets of the alchemical tradition affects specific bodily organs and relates to human health in repeating patterns throughout life. This knowledge can add valuable information to the case-taking process and shed extra light on our patients' conditions and progress.

As natural therapists, this knowledge enables us to understand why certain people are prone to specific ailments and to accurately predict whether their conditions represent simply a passing phase or something more permanent.

By using this method of predicting health patterns, a therapist can work with the body as it enters a new cycle and understand more clearly where the patient's energy needs to be directed. All that is needed to start the process is a date of birth.

Exciting, inspiring, revealing and fun, 'How the Planets Shape our Health' will make you realise that we are not alone in the universe and that there is an incredible interaction between man and the cosmos.
